Subject: feedback on the Native Vegetation Code statutory review

Dear Local Land Services & the Review Committee,

I thank you for the opportunity to provide feedback on the Native Vegetation Code statutory review as I am concerned for the future of NSW's marine life

Vulnerable habitats and marine life are at risk from poor water quality due to out-of-control land clearing.

Unfortunately, out-of-control land clearing has increased 13-fold with the loosening of native vegetation laws, impacting on vulnerable habitats such as seagrass, which marine life depends upon. We need to end large-scale land clearing today.

The future of our coastal environments are in your hands! The people of New South Wales want you to end runaway land clearing so we can ensure we have healthy rivers and oceans for future generations.

Yours sincerely

Martine Porret
